Scope eKnowledge Center to exhibit at Online Information 2011

Chennai, India, November 22, 2011: Scope eKnowledge Center (Scope), a leading content enhancement and knowledge services provider, has announced that the company will be exhibiting at the forthcoming Online Information 2011, scheduled for November 29 – December 1, 2011, in London.

The Online Information conference is the largest UK event dedicated to the information industry, providing an annual meeting place for the global information industry. Attracting thousands of visitors each year from around the world, this unique, free to attend event consists of an exhibition with more than 150 international exhibitors plus an extensive educational seminar programme.

Attendees are invited to visit the Scope stand (EP 318) to discover more about Scope and the services offered by the company. Scope representatives will be on hand to discuss Scope's unique 'assisted automation' approach that blends the use of appropriate technologies with rich Subject Matter Expertise (SME) to deliver scalable, cost-effective and high-value output.
